None of the pictures in the present exhibition has been publicly shown in recent years. They cover practically every period of his active career as an artist, the earliest being of 1875, the Ophelia of 1887, the Arab Camp of the early 90's, the Wreck, Moonrise at Sea and the Road of Life of about 1900. Those the titles of which are followed by stars are for sale.

ALBERT PINKHAM RYDER

By FREDERIC FAIRCHILD SHERMAN

Small quarto. Frontispiece in color and photogravure reproductions of representative paintings.

Limited edition of 225 copies on Dutch handmade paper at $25.00 net.

On pardonnera a son biographe un enthousiasme parfois debordant, en faveur d'une critique intelligemment sympathique, d'une information precise, d'un style alerte et image.—Gazetie des Beaux Arts, Chronique des Arts, 15th Mai, 1921.

Excellently illustrated. One of the most interesting and valuable of the series of monographs on American artists.—The Boston Transcript.

A monograph of the highest interest to students of American art. It gives us in slender but sympathetically suggestive outline a portrait of the man, and it characterizes the artist enthusiastically and at the same time justly. Mr. Sherman adds to his illuminating text an invaluable catalogue, following this he gives us a useful bibliography, and then lists the paintings shown at the Academy, at the Society of American Artists and at the Memorial exhibition held at the Metropolitan Museum in 1918.—The N. Y. Tribune.
